I've returned my modem, but it says it's awaiting collection at the post office. What should I do?

If your returned modem's tracking status shows "awaiting collection" at the post office, there's no need to worry. We pick up returned modems from the post office daily, so there's no need to notify us.

Generally, we will collect the modem the same day it arrives at the post office or by the next business day. If the tracking status shows "awaiting collection" for more than two days, please contact our support team for assistance.
